C/J Department says Farewell to Dr. Trammell and Prof. McCormick-Sullivan

Dr. Jim Trammell and Prof. Kelly McCormick-Sullivan pose with the cake from the C/J department at their farewell reception on Friday, April 25. Dr. Trammell has taken a position at High Point University in North Carolina, and Prof. McCormick-Sullivan will be finishing her second master's degree at RIT and then looking for a position in health care administration.

Three C/J Seniors presented their Senior Research projects at the RIT undergraduate research conference held on Friday April 18, 2008. Their papers included: Silencing Martha: Eradicating the Dignity of the Female Gender: A Study of Framing and Agenda-Setting in Newspapers Featuring Female Public Figures by Shannon Lappin, We're all Homos. Homo Sapiens. The Study of Offensive Language in NBC's Television Program, The Office, by Karen Perry, and Spin in the Media: An Analysis of Corporate and Independent Media, by Amanda Lehman.

Thanks to Dr. Pate for sponsoring the students' participation through the Above and Beyond fund. Thanks also to Dr. Bicket for helping with the practice session and offering some great ideas.
