

My name is Marty Wood and I am the purchasing manager for Textbookfetcher. I have an opening that I am interested in posting on your job board. I am looking for a person to purchase books for us. We pay them a 10% commission on all qualifying purchases. I provide them with everything. the only thing the buyer needs to provide is a lap top with internet service. It is the perfect opening for a college student as it allows them to work their own hours and therefore not interfering with school work.
